The Election.

We give below the official vote in this county last Tuesday, and also partial returns from Morris and Chase counties. These are all the returns we have received, but judging by them, we think the vote throughout the Territory was lighter than that upon the Constitution:

| | For | Against | Total |

MORRIS COUNTY.

Deputy,
Parrott, 111.Council—6th District,
Woodward, 102.Representative,
Wood, 104.

Democratic county ticket elected.

CHASE COUNTY.

Falls Precedent—Reported all for Parrott. Wood.

Representative—23 majority.

Diamond Springs—Wood, 15; Huffaker, 6.

We learn that Orson Porter, one of the men arrested at Council Grove sometime since for horse-stealing, and who had his head shaved and was ordered to leave the country, is now living near Elmendorf, Madison county. We have been requested by a resident of that county to make known this fact.

The Westport Border Star, in an article on the Kaw Indians, says:
"The Kaws are fine-looking fellows, straight as an arrow, slender in person, with countenances soft and amiable."

Now, Mac, you couldn't have been "thinking of yourself" when you wrote that. They might appear "amiable" to a man out on the prairie, but as for "fine-looking fellows," why you are absolutely handsome beside any one of them!

Thanksgiving.

Gov. Medary has appointed Thursday, the 24th day of November, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, for the people of this Territory.

Elections came off in New York and New Jersey on Tuesday, the 1st inst., and in Wisconsin on Thursday, the 3d. We have received no returns yet.

The Wisconsin Chief—Chief among all the temperance or literary papers we get—after a long march, through thorny paths, at last "comes out of the wilderness" and appears before us. We welcome its presence with pleasure, and trust there are many of our readers who know the Chief well enough to send its publishers—T. W. & Emma Brown—one dollar and get it. Published weekly at Milwaukee and Fort Atkinson.

The census of Iowa, which has just been completed, shows a population of 638,450. In 1856 it was 509,414.

A letter from Paris, dated Oct. 6, says Senator Seward would leave England in two or three days for home.

The propeller Troy was lost in a recent storm on Lake Huron, and about twenty persons on board perished.

VOL 3—No. 14.

EMPORIA, KANSAS, NOVEMBER 12, 1859.

WHOLE No. 118.

An "Irrepressible" Change.

There is an old proverb that "the darkest of the night is just before day." Those who witnessed the desperate efforts made by Missouri three years ago to plant slavery in Kansas in order to protect it upon her own soil, predicted, when that effort was defeated, that the conflict which she had provoked with her enemies would revert upon herself, and become irrepressible until slavery should cease within her own bounds. This prediction is fast being fulfilled. Already we see a diminution in the slave population of her western and northern counties; and with the demise of the institution, a strong anti-slavery sentiment naturally springs up from the relief which every one feels in the removal of the curse.

The press of Missouri is now almost equally divided upon the Lecompton issue and Dred Scott Democracy generally. Although there are but few open Republican papers in that State, yet who can doubt the potency of power influenced by such papers as the Kansas City Metropolitan, the Missouri Statesman, Columbia, the Lagrange American, Lexington Express, and a great many others which are only styled "Opposition?" They may, some or all of them, dodge the slavery issue in a direct sense, yet they encourage free labor sentiment and war the Democracy with greater vengeance than the most radical Republican journals of the North.

It cannot be doubted that the anti-slavery feeling is stronger in Missouri to-day than in any other slave State. It will never become weaker than it is until slavery is entirely eradicated.

"Wild Bill," we see by the Westport Border Star, challenges both Morrissey and Heenan to a combat, and agrees to fight them one at a time, hour and hour about, until he or they are whipped, for $1000 a side. The fight to take place at Kansas City or Leavenworth, on any day the opposite party may name. As a guarantee of his earnestness, he agrees to deposit $500 at Northrup & Co's Banking house in Kansas City.

IOWA ELECTION.—The Dubuque Herald, (Democratic) of the 21st ult., foots up the returns for the legislature in Iowa, and acknowledges a Republican majority of five in the Senate and eleven in the House; sixteen on joint ballot. The whole Republican ticket is elected.

THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY, for November, comes with the names of Messrs. Ticknor & Fields as publishers. It suffers no deduction in beauty or loss of valuable contributors. We think it is in good hands, and trust its course hereafter will be "upward and onward."

A fire occurred on the prairie west of Lawrence, on Thursday, the 3d instant, which destroyed everything but the house of E. B. Whitman, and burned a Miss Hisecock, who was out fighting fire, so badly that she afterwards died.

We observe by the Republican, that Mr. George Fogg, the widely known editor of the Independent Democrat, N. H., was in Lawrence last week. We wish he could have paid the Neosho a visit.

PROGRESS OF KANSAS CITY.—The Metropolitan, of last week, gives an enumeration of the number and cost of buildings erected in Kansas City the past year, from which it appears that the total amount of expenditures for that purpose was nearly $400,000, and the number of buildings put up, two hundred—nearly all of brick.

A terrible accident occurred on the Chicago and North-western Railroad on the 1st inst. A train consisting of twelve cars, filled with excursionists from Fond du Lac for Chicago, ran off the track at Johnson's Creek, eight miles south of Watertown, Wisconsin. Fourteen persons are reported killed and a number badly injured.

The Omaha City Republican says the frauds perpetrated at the recent election of delegate to Congress for Nebraska fully equal those at Oxford and Kickapoo in Kansas. Returns from Fort Kearney give Estabrook 238 majority, while it is asserted that not 25 legal voters reside there.

POST OFFICE ROBBERY.—The post office in Atchison was entered on the night of the 28th ult., and robbed of about two hundred letters and a small amount of money. The thief has since been caught.

Gov. Packer, of Pennsylvania, has appointed Thursday, the 24th day of November, as a day of general Thanksgiving and praise to Almighty God.

The propeller Troy was lost in a recent storm on Lake Huron, and about twenty persons on board perished.

The census of Iowa, which has just been completed, shows a population of 638,450. In 1856 it was 509,414.

FIRES.—The extensive sugar house on Gooch street, Boston, six stories high, occupied by Seth Adams, was destroyed by fire on the evening of the 30th ult. The loss on the stock is $80,000, and on the building and machinery, $50,000. There was nearly $60,000 insurance on the stock, and on the building $12,000. Very little of the stock was saved—not over two thousand bbls of sugar being taken out.

A dispatch from New Orleans, of the 30th, says: "A portion of three squares in the third municipality was destroyed by fire, to-day, by which seventy-four families are rendered homeless. The loss is estimated at one hundred thousand dollars. Another large fire is now raging at the corner of Poydras and Levee streets."

We learn from the Kansas City Metropolitan, that a proposition is on foot to build a railroad from that point to an intersection with the Hannibal & St. Joseph road. The distance is only fifty miles, and the cost of the road is estimated at $600,000. The officers and stockholders of the H. & St. Jo. road are urging this enterprise, and it is presumed that it will be carried out at an early day.

The Pacific Road is now being pushed forward rapidly—all, or nearly all the stock being taken, and the work progressing along almost the entire length of the line to Kansas City.

The Tribune is the name of a very handsome and ably edited Republican paper recently started at Quindaro, by Messrs. John Francis and J. P. W. Davis. We wish it success.

An imitation of the Terry-Broderick affair came off near Leavenworth, on the 26th, between the local editors of the Register and Dispatch. Three shots retrieved their "injured honors" without the shedding of blood.

The contracts for transportation of Government supplies are let. The one from the Missouri river to Utah Territory, to Irvine & White; from Leavenworth and Kansas City to New Mexico, to Moore & Boice.

The average price per hundred pounds for each one hundred miles, as bid by Irvine & White, is $2 10; by Moore & Boice, $1 38.

A terrible riot occurred in Baltimore the day of the election. The "roughs" and rowdies blockaded the polls in nearly every ward, and kept the Reformers from voting. In the skirmishes, which ensued, several were killed, and a large number wounded.

The Herald of Truth is a new publication issued in New York, containing sermons of the most distinguished evangelical divines. It is published by the Rev. John W. Major, at $2 per annum.

A dispatch from New Orleans, dated Oct. 29th, says: "Private letters received by the Pinyune, from Mexico, confirm the cold blooded murder of Mr. Chase, the American Consul, by Gen. Marquez."

S. O. Thacher, one of the Republican's editors, received the nomination by the Republican Convention, at Oswatimie, for Judge of the fourth judicial district.

Prof. Cady is now holding a musical convention in Lawrence.

Mr. Adams, one of the Georgia miners, arrived in Leavenworth on the 29th inst., with fifty pounds of gold obtained by mining in the Kansas mines during the past summer.

The office of the Newport (Ky.) Free South was mobbed on the night of the 28th ult., and the type thrown into the streets. It was a Republican paper.

The St. Joseph Gazette reports the arrival of a party of thirty Pike's Peakers in that city one day last week, with $100,000 in gold dust.

From the last census it appears that within twenty miles of Harper's Ferry, there are 20,000 slaves, of whom probably 5,000 are men.

By the last steamer we learn it has not yet been definitely settled whether the Great Eastern will visit us this season or not.

The Governor of Indiana has designated the 24th of November, as a day of Thanksgiving and Prayer.

We are again in receipt of that excellent paper, the Wisconsin Free Democrat, as an exchange.

There are now 450 convicts in the Missouri State Penitentiary.

Next Christmas and New Years both come on Sunday.

There are 6000 slaves within a circuit of 20 miles around Harper's Ferry.

A pelican, measuring seven feet from tip to tip of his wings, was shot on the Wakarusa last week. We have seen quite a number of these birds recently. They are perfect specimens of this remarkable fowl.

Given under the seal of the Territory,
[SEAL] at Leocompton, this 1st day of November, 1859.

S. MEDARY.

MESSRS. EDITORS OF NEWS.—I wish to ask the Republicans of Breckenridge county a single question; viz: "Can a man be a good Republican and at the same time work with the Black Democracy?" Now, Judge Baker, who, I understand, styles himself the "Napoleon of Breckenridge county," stopped in our place a few nights since with a pro-slavery Democratic candidate for the Legislature in the adjoining counties, with whom he was out electioneering. Now, sir, if Judge Baker is going to play this kind of "good lord, good devil" game, I think it is time the Republicans of Breckenridge knew it. If he is going to be a true Republican, let him cut loose from the Democratic party; if he is going with the Black Democracy, let him sever his connection with the Republican party. It is impossible for a man to act in connection with both, and not betray the interests of one or the other. If men are to pursue such a course as this, I say the sooner the party lines are drawn, and the tighter, the better.

FOREST HILL.

Sol. Miller, the witty editor of the White Cloud Chief, gets off the following good hits in his last:

It is said Buchanan intends to sue Forney for his character. There is no denying that it has gone astray somewhere; and if Forney hasn't got it, he should sue somebody else, and keep suing, until he gets it. An exchange, speaking of Rosa Bonheur, the celebrated female artist, says "she is a native of France, but the world claims her as its own." The world is right, for we have good authority for saying that she was born in the world.

Ansels says he judges us to be of Irish descent. Well, suppose we were Irish all over, would he consider us any the less decent for it?

He, of the Dispatch, says he don't think we are an angel. We can't return the compliment. We think he is an angel—speaks the Scriptures refers to, when it speaks of "the Devil and his angels."

Mrs. Nichols' lecture, on Tuesday evening, was a very ingenious, argumentative and well delivered address, and was well received by a large audience, who gave her the most respectful attention throughout. She is a pleasant lecturer and evidently a very intelligent and sensible woman.—Kansas City Metropolitan, 27th.

MURDER NEAR QUINDARO.—A party of gentlemen returning from the State Convention at Topeka a few days since, discovered the body of a man near Chas. Ketchum, about six miles from Quindaro, under circumstances which precluded any idea but that he was cruelly murdered. The body lay two or three rods from the road, entirely stripped of clothing, and the face mutilated so that it was impossible to arrive at any clue as to the identity. Upon searching the locality, evidence of an affray were found near the road; a club, which from its blood-stained appearance, had evidently been used to beat in the skull. Portions of clothing, pocket knife, etc., were found on the ground, and evidences of the body having been dragged farther into the bushes.

A saddle, bridle, and a large Mexican spur, were also near the spot; also traces that two horses had been tied recently to trees, and fed with corn. The body was that of a man about 25 years of age, and could not have been there more than thirty-six hours at most. The indications seemed to be that he was a returned Pike's Peaker.—Quindaro Tribune, 27th.

The man with the tin horn has left town.

EMPORIA LYCEUM.—The subscribers, impressed with the idea that an organization for mental improvement is needed in Emporia, respectfully invite their fellow-citizens who are favorable to that object to meet at Temple's Hall on Wednesday evening, Nov. 16th, to take measures for the organization of the Emporia Lyceum.

DIED.

In Forest Hill, on the evening of the 4th of November, THOMAS EDWARD, infant son of John W. and Mary E. McKibben, aged 1 year and 10 months.

As softly steals the silent breath
Of zephyr winds at even,
So gently came the angel Death
To wait his soul to Heaven.

And shall we mourn his sweet relief,
His calm and sweet repose,
For he is safe from present grief
And safe from future woes.

Earth has its due; to Heaven above
Shall his sweet spirit rise,
And angels chant, with songs of love,
His welcome to the skies.
